Call for Nominations
Annual Emory School of Medicine Dean’s Teaching Awards

All Emory School of Medicine students and faculty may nominate outstanding teachers in the clinical and basic sciences for the academic year 2017-18.

Teaching Awards are intended to publicly honor our most successful educators of students and to recognize superior teaching of medical and allied health professions students. Candidates should be School of Medicine full time faculty or others who have made significant contributions to medical student teaching.

Nominees will be judged on a variety of criteria, including the content of nominating letters, student evaluations, course director evaluations, faculty peer reviews, curricula vitae and teaching portfolios. Each nomination will be reviewed by the Teaching Awards Committee, an ad hoc committee composed of a multidisciplinary group of faculty members and medical students.

Nominations from students should be less than one page, relaying your personal experience with the nominee. Please include examples to support your nomination. Students do not need to compile documentation or CV’s.

Letters and documentation should be emailed to:
Teaching Awards Committee
c/o Mrs. Deirdre Abrams  Deirdre.E.Abrams@emory.edu
Executive Asst. to Dr. J. William Eley and Dr. Gordon Churchward

Nominations will be accepted until September 4, 2018. The committee will present a recommended list of awardees to the dean of the School of Medicine. The awards will be presented at the Faculty Recognition Ceremony on October 11, 2018.

We encourage your active participation in this very important initiative.
