

Description of 2020 Research Day Prizes/Awards

DOM Research Day certificates and cash prizes are awarded to researchers who have contributed the highest quality oral and poster presentations. Awards are given in the following categories:

- Best clinical or health services research oral presentation
- Best basic science research oral presentation
- Best clinical or health services research poster presentation
- Best basic science research poster presentation
- Best poster presentation given by a non-faculty graduate student (i.e. PhD, MS, MSCR, MPH)

The winners of poster and oral presentation awards are selected based on judges' scoring of the following criteria:

- Overall scientific merit and content of presentation
- Innovation and significance of findings
- Organization and clarity of presentation
- Presentation style and delivery
- Presenter's ability to answer audience questions

Awardees must be present during the award ceremony to receive prize and be a member of the Department of Medicine to receive the monetary award.
