

EMORY RADIOLOGY & GLOBAL HEALTH

Faculty members and trainees of the Department of Radiology and Imaging Sciences selflessly contribute their time and expertise to advancing radiology and imaging sciences around the world. In 2016-2018, dozens of our faculty and trainees have traveled abroad to share their clinical and research expertise at the invitation of academic medical centers and other healthcare-related partners. This map identifies the many countries where our people are fulfilling our mission's promise to promote health, support discovery and innovation, and educate the future healthcare workforce.
