

Daily Overview (April 1, 2020)

A new EHC approach to PPE has begun effective today, and we are working to disseminate masks to our patient-facing staff and providers.

Safety:

- To support social distancing for health care workers, EHC is making face masks available to all EHC staff and providers who wish to wear them while working on-site beginning today, Wednesday, April 1. See EHC intranet for more information: <http://www.ourehc.org/>
- Additional efforts are being made to promote social distancing in radiology through maximum occupancy signage in common areas.
- We continue room evaluation and HEPA filter installation for procedural suites across sites.

Methods:

- Documents guiding the performance of portable imaging examinations and MRI for COVID+ vented patients are being finalized.
- For scientific meetings that have been canceled, accepted abstracts and presentations can still be listed on your CV by adding "(meeting canceled)".

Equipment:

- Additional Emory radiologist home interpretation workstations have been delivered and are being readied for deployment.
- Grady and CHOA radiologist home interpretation workstation deployment continues.

Supplies:

- Additional sources of PPE continue to be explored and additional shipments are arriving for use.

Staffing:

- The majority of responses to a survey to catalog clinical skill sets for clinical faculty, fellows, and residents have been received. If you haven't done so already, please complete this brief survey.
- Planning is underway to track metrics and prepare detailed plans for surge conditions if the need arises.

A Tip From Your Wellness Committee:

Research suggests that people who routinely express gratitude enjoy better health and greater happiness. Consciously giving thanks can have a profound effect on our relationships and well-being. Here are some tips to starting a gratitude journal.
